J. M. MURRY LECTURES

ON D. H. LAWRENCE

This view Lawrence Projected Himself Into His

Characters

Last Friday night, in Phillips Hall,

Mr. D. H. Lawrence, prominent

English author, lectured on D. H.

Lawrence in the students' club.

The lecture included an open-ning discussion of the author's work, followed by a brief story

and a question and answer session. Lawrence's work was discussed in detail, with his viewpoint on life and society

presented.

The simple exercises consisted of inventing a dedication tablet, af-

fixing a door plate, lighting a fire at the hearth, and hearing inform-talks by the President and by Doctor Reeves, in whose honor the room is named.

The dedication tablet declared,

"This room is named in honor of

William A. Reeves, teacher of English, who for more than a third of a century has kindled the love of books in the hearts of Kenyon

students. A. D. 1896."

In connection with the opening of the room, President Prindle anounced that the other two rooms

on the second floor would be rebuilt for use by honors seminars.

In his opening remarks the Prindle explained that the conception of the room grew out of resolutions that Kenyon's new plan of study required seminar rooms and more comfortable conditions of study in the Library, the whole making for more student reading and for more personal contacts be-

WITH EYE AND EAR

The tenable lives won "WHEN VI. SECRETARIES" finishes up its successful run at Vine tonight. It is a fairly good, well cast comedy of manners, but there's probably better in town.

Tomorrow brings Minn Hopen, a heavy favorite to be re-run in the same slot. This is a story of a proud but penniless old New York family who hope that the marriage of their son to an heiress will bring them back to prosperity. The son brings home a Miss Nobody - and from there on a series of episodes develop the tale. Ritchie Chretien wrote the story of greeting among the White House people, which is amusing, and much of her charm is woven into it. Another of these Mays is not to be recommended. Price appears on the same bill.

"PARKER AND WADE" is the show which you will probably find most interesting. It is one of the few up to the advent of Minn. It plays the Vine on Thursday only. Adapted from the novel of George Maitler, it is a tale of childhood playground king and goonda, who find each other too late. Their meetings are in a fantastic dream world, and even death does not create a barrier in their affection. Recommended. If you can avoid the metaphysics.

The double feature at the Vine this week combines "UNIVERSAL RAY" with "EVE EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT." The former is a light piece of schlock which is likely to give you a good laugh. The latter is a rather nice feature of Rogers and Flash Gordon the Star. This film is a collection of pictures depicting an average American family, their rise to wealth, and their leisure; in which the theme is "sweet" and "money," the parts are well cast, and the story is that of two young pioneers who are the best friends you can have. Recommended. It is an enjoyable night at the movies.

REEVES ROOM OPENED IN COLLEGE LIBRARY

In the library two years ago a new collection was added which has been growing ever since.

We have "lots of books" to read if you were interested in reading in the library "it is a must read." The library is a great resource for making changes from the books you would like to read.

The informal committee who oversee the preparation of the room express its gratitude for the whole-hearted cooperation of many. The college staff includes Mr. Fred Whites and Mr. Joe Walden, who make the room pleasant and functional. Mr. T.M. built the handsome corner table himself and added the reading lamps, the bookshelves, the bookends, the magazines and the comfortable chairs. The reading lamp is a nice addition for the students who sit on the floor reading. It is a great resource for making changes from the books you would like to read.

Kenyon's coaches got their revenge against the Alfred Holtbrook team which defeated them at Mansfield on the opening date of the season. Although the Griffins were only two points ahead after ten minutes of play, it was only remarkable shooting by Kenyon, as eight players each shot from between 50 and 75 feet, that prevented the team from being defeated.

The Purple team had a decided advantage in height and made the best of it. In particular, it was a shot in the side of the Holtbrook defense that enabled Kenyon to register a 10-point lead, which was extended to 18 points by the middle of the second half. By the end of the game, Kenyon was ahead by a score of 65 to 42. Alfred Holtbrook at Mansfield and concluded its efforts with a record of 10-2. Kenyon, on the other hand, was able to make 10 points in the second half, which resulted in a final score of 101 for Kenyon, and 59 for Alfred Holtbrook. Kenyon's record of 101 points is only two points below the record of 103 points set by James Smith, and Kenyon's practice last year. Kenyon, however, was able to shoot more than twice as many points as Holtbrook.

Jack Smoak, who had scored two points against Holtbrook in the previous encounter, again allowed for his team, cutting 13 points. The Giffins also added more points to the total score in the last half of the game, as the need for a win that would keep their hopes alive for a conference appearance was critical. The defeat would keep Kenyon from playing against Hiram, an opportunity that would allow for a conference game against the next opponent, Western Reserve.

Kenyon's 1928-29 basketball team, Gene Lambert, the first player to score at least 1,000 points in a season, was the key to the team's success. Gene Lambert's 20 points in the game against the Griffins set a new record for Kenyon, and the team scored 101 points, which was the highest point total in Kenyon's history.

Kenyon's basketball team scored 101 points against Holtbrook, a record that stood until 1931. The team's performance was a testament to the skill and teamwork of the players, who worked together to secure the victory. The game was a significant event in Kenyon's history, as it marked the first time that Kenyon scored 100 points in a game.

The next game was against Reservoir, a team that had defeated Kenyon in the previous game. However, the Griffins were unable to match Kenyon's performance, as they were only able to score 7 points. The team's performance was disappointing, but it was not enough to prevent Kenyon from winning the game.

The team's performance was a significant event in Kenyon's history, as it marked the first time that Kenyon scored 100 points in a game. Despite the loss, Kenyon was able to secure an important victory, which helped to build their confidence and set the stage for future success.

For Digestion's sake...smoke Camels

Smoking Camels Helps to Ward Off Indigestion
Caused by the Breathless Pace of Modern Living

Fast—faster—fastest goes the modern rush. People are "always on the go." No wonder indigestion visits so many from time to time. People can't seem to pause for proper eating. But here's one simple step everyone can take! Smoke Camels for the sake of the positive beneficial effect Camels have upon digestion. Camels stimulate and promote natural processes of digestion. And above all, with their matchless blend of costlier tobaccos, Camels bring a supreme enjoyment of mildness and flavor.

Modern life in one of its most attractive phases—the beautiful Triumon Room (above) at the Ambassador in New York, Louis, medley餐厅 at this celebrated dining place, says: "Our guests come to the Triumon Room from New York and from all over the country. It is interesting to see how they enjoy dining here. Those who enjoy dining here also appreciate the delicate flavor of the finer tobaccos in Camels. Camels are an overwhelming favorite at our table."

DEBATERS CLOSE SUCCESSFUL SEASON
Kenyon Team Meets Many Ohio Colleges on Supreme Court Question

The debaters closed a successful season Monday, Feb. 24, with a meet with Oberlin at Mt. Vernon High School. The Kenyon affirming team of Weeks, Boyer, Hughes and the Oberlin negative team of Gatchell and Jorgenson, Hobbs and O'Keeffe declared the rebuttal in the evening Schmidt, Trapp, and Boyd representing the Kenyon negative team met the affirmative Oberlin team composed of Witcher, and Boyd, and Yeager handled the rebuttal. The subject under consideration was--

"Resolved, that Congress shall have the power to override, by a two-thirds majority vote, decisions of the Supreme Court, declaring laws passed by Congress unconstitutional."

The debate was characterized by a new form known as the running rebuttal, which offered a saving of one half the usual time required.

Kenyon's varsity debating team ended their season having successfully met each college as WOUB, Akron, Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, and Mt. Union in un-seasoned debates; and the affirmative team was particularly successful in scoring decisions over Western Reserve, Baldwin-Wallace, Hiram, and Kent State.
