THE MYTH OF SMALL CLASSES

In the college catalogue and other literature, picturing to the picture, Kenyon is represented as placing an emphasis upon individual attention and small classes. To some extent this may be true, but the majority of letters in favor of small classes, but it will be unnecessary to enumerate them, as we have already taken the position that small classes are not to be made by the mere removal of fa

DIGESTION'S SAKE_SMOKE CAMELS

Digestion often needs Camel's aid too!

OFTEN during a hard, tiring day, smokers pause to get a "lift" in energy with a Camel. And at mealtimes, Camels offer a helping hand to good digestion. They help you to enjoy your food more. And Camels increase the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—so vital to a sense of well-being. Make every meal more zestful—more pleasant—by smoking Camels. With their matchless mildness, Camels are better for steady smoking.

ALL-AMERICAN HOCKEY STAR.

Phil Lafee (below, right), says: "Good digestion and healthy nerves are assets in this game. I smoke Camels—for digestion's sake—and because Camels never get on my nerves."

RADIO'S NEW SMASH HIT!

"Jack Oakie's College," an air program heard on many a college campus in the United States, on Tuesday nights, features the musical talents of Jack Oakie, the famous (and ex-Golden) comedian. The feature is presented by the NEAR CHAMBER ORCHESTRA, New York. A CBS presentation.

For Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

AIR CRASHES

Blame Radio Beam

The United States government is assuming an extremely palatable attitude and is pointed out quite logically that if it had not been for Department of Commerce instructions in radio beam operation the ship would have been in an accident, at which time the ceiling was but hardly above the legal limit.

The pilot was coming in on the beacon practically on schedule, but the ceiling was lowering rather rapidly. It therefore occurred to the weatherman stationed at the airport, "Your ceiling is down. Be prepared."

and there might have been a broadcast. It was that the weatherman was not interested in the knowing that the ceiling was coming down. So in spite of the fact that the airplane had not officially reported its approach upon the airport, and reported that the beacon was not on he weather report could be broadcasted.

CLAD IN ASBESTOS SUIT (right).

"Fot" Paterson tackles a blazing oil-well quickly gets the inferno under control. "Even after that I can trick away a hearty meal—provided I have plenty of Camels handy," says "Fot," enjoying a basty bite (above). "Smoking Camels helps keep my digestion in proper trim. I smoke mightily oft- en. And Camels don’t get on my nerves!"

COSTLIER TOBACCOs!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

INTERRUPTIONS COSTLY

The pilot left the beam and after it was turned on he lost many precious minutes searching for it. Then delayed. It ruined the local meteorologist great concern be- cause he had already counted the ceiling and was rapidly lower. He was diligently out to the beam again to inform the whole pl hat he had better to come on in because he did not worry he might have to walk home. This of course leaned the poor pilot to land the beam again, and so things went until the ceiling was lowest. Platz now on his flight was strictly illegal. Airplanes ven- somely not permitted to fly when the ceiling is improperly low.

But having enough was to return to his starting point which was still having deliberately flown he was advised to go on that, where he might have a chance. That was the last Chanor he ever took. He ran out of gas be- fore he ran out of fuel.
