4-13-1937

Kenyon Collegian - April 13, 1937

Follow this and additional works at: https://digital.kenyon.edu/collegian

Recommended Citation
https://digital.kenyon.edu/collegian/1754

This News Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Archives at Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Kenyon Collegian by an authorized administrator of Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact noltj@kenyon.edu.
WORLD WAITS DECISIONS OF CONFERENCE

International Relations Clubs To Convene Here Friday and Saturday

On Friday and Saturday of this week the Ohio College International Relations Clubs will hold their annual conventions in the Library.

There will be fifteen delegations present all from Ohio colleges to discuss the world situation.

The conventions will meet at 9 a.m. in the main hall of the Library.

On Saturday evening an address will be given by Dr. J. A. Salmon, assistant professor of international affairs at the University of Oregon.

On Sunday afternoon the convention will be conducted by Dr. E. B. Coffin, who will take as his topic "The United States and the World of Tomorrow." The address will be followed by a final meeting to be held in the main hall of the Library.

The convention will be open to the public and all interested persons are invited to attend.

KENYON COLLEGE LIBRARY

GLEE CLUB PLUS "WINTERSET" AT VINE TOMORROW

Stage shown at the Vine Theatre are rare. Still more unusual is the unusual performance by the Glee Club of Kenyon College. A combination of these two occurs tomorrow morning.

The winter concert will be presented in the main hall of the Library at 11 a.m.

On Saturday afternoon an address will be given by Dr. J. A. Salmon, assistant professor of international affairs at the University of Oregon.

On Sunday afternoon the convention will be conducted by Dr. E. B. Coffin, who will take as his topic "The United States and the World of Tomorrow." The address will be followed by a final meeting to be held in the main hall of the Library.

The convention will be open to the public and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Cast For Twelfth Night Selected

Condensed by R. E. Sulloway

DIRECTOR BLACK

John W. Black, or "Basso" (as he is more familiarly known) was in a merry mood the day our current undergraduate Raymond Raymond came upon him in his office. He was in the same spirit when COLLEGE reporter expressed his confidence in the Glee Club's future.

"Well, it's going to turn out all right — if it's a footloose play," directed John W. in reply.

"But," ventured our man, "are any of Shakespeare's plays footloose?"

There was an embarrassed silence.

"Well—", mused Basso, "I guess not, I guess they aren't."

After a few more minutes of chatter, Director John was finally persuaded to divulge the names of the cast for the "Twelfth Night." A further demonstration of his good nature was his granting permission to publish the casting of the characters they portray. It is to be noted that six of the characters of the present Dramatic Club will leave the College by graduation this June. They are being replaced in the cast of characters of "Twelfth Night." namely: Albert, A. Gage, Bingham, W. H., David, Ridge, and Lasher.

New Staff

NATIONAL LIBRARY"Φ"s new staff includes the following:

N FREE NEWSPAPER

NEW STAFF

Franz Uliger was elected editor-emeritus of the KENYON "Collegian," the staff newspaper of the Kenyon College." He succeeds B. B. Black, who had been editor-in-chief of the paper for the past year.

The new editor, a senior in the College, plans to continue the "Collegian" in its present format.

"Tellus," another junior, was elected associate editor of the "Collegian." He plans to work closely with the editor in producing the weekly newspaper.

B. B. Black, who had been editor-in-chief of the paper for the past year, continues in that position.

M. Kayser is the new editor of the "Collegian," who will take over the duties of the former editor. He plans to continue the "Collegian" in its present format.

The new staff includes the following:

Joel Feshbach, sports editor, Bob Sisler, news editor, and Joe Allen, sports editor.

Dr. M. Kayser, who has been associated with Kenyon College for many years, has been appointed editor of the "Collegian." He succeeds B. B. Black, who had been editor-in-chief of the paper for the past year.

The new editor, a senior in the College, plans to continue the "Collegian" in its present format.

"Tellus," another junior, was elected associate editor of the "Collegian." He plans to work closely with the editor in producing the weekly newspaper.

B. B. Black, who had been editor-in-chief of the paper for the past year, continues in that position.

M. Kayser is the new editor of the "Collegian," who will take over the duties of the former editor. He plans to continue the "Collegian" in its present format.

The new staff includes the following:

Joel Feshbach, sports editor, Bob Sisler, news editor, and Joe Allen, sports editor.

Dear Mr. Black, I was wondering what time the next meeting of the Drama Club will be held. I am interested in attending.

Best regards,

Joe Allen

Sports Editor
KENYON COLLEGIAN

KENYON COLLEGIAN

Published WEEKLY during the academic year by the students of Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio. Copyright 1916.

FRANZ H. ROYER, 37th
ALVIN C. REID, JR., 38th
JOSEPH W. PEPPERS, JR., 36th
HERMAN STORREY, 36th
JOSEPH H. ALLAN, 36th
37th
38th

Editor

Letters

The COLLEGIAN reserves the right to print only articles considered by the editors.

Editor of The Collecion:

In some time ago you published a letter from one who signed himself "L. Allergen." He made a plea for the inclusion of the names of the faculty and the student body. Since then, there has been much discussion of the problem on the Hill and one of the speeches given during the Speech Contest school Allegheny’s sentiment. But there are others who favor the idea as well. However, the writer has engaged several members of the faculty in connection with the question and it has come to several conclusions as a result.

First of all, the faculty does not believe that the public has the right to know the names of the students who want to visit them in their homes. Secondly, they have come to the realization that even in the protection of the names of students, the faculty, they expect entertainances on a grand scale, whereas more than half the faculty cannot pass such parties with dinner or entertainment.

Now, what is the other side of this story? Although Kenyon students are not excluded from entering private homes, or in fact, the officers of the College will print in a future edition a questionnaire in which the student may register his name.

The purpose of the questionnaires will not be to undermine the confidence of students but rather to serve as a definite and constructive criticism to improve the facilities. When the answers are compiled, the faculty can do what it wants with the results of the questionnaires. However, it is our opinion that it will do well to give proper attention to a valid criticism.

GARROTH

OPPORTUNITY

The Pan-Hell Carnival exists! Monday night this council was formally ratified by the college in a mass meeting of representatives. However, it seems that in spite of the new president this council hopes to establish by starting at scratch it is allowing the weeds of tradition to cling to its feet and hold it back from going forward. Presumably, we mean that in a sentiment-scape a slight majority of the students recently turned out for a Halloweek. The college believes that by abolishing of Halloweek the Council would do much in the way of commanding respect and show that it intends to be not only a new head of the college but a new leader of the college.

Elections will be held by the students of the college to fill the positions of the officers of the council. The officers will be chosen by secret ballot.

K. N. BURNESS

GARROTH

LET US ANALYZE

We have found that at least one other college newspaper is of the same opinion as the KENYON COLLEGIAN regarding the student as a critic. Quoting from the University of Toledo Campus Chronicle, "Students at the University have often been heard to complain that such and such an instructor knows his stuff, but he can’t teach it. Many times these students have continuously complained that a course is dull because of the professors. In more than three-fourths of these classes students have been correct.

Kenyon is not unlike Toledo in this respect. We, too, have heard the wail of the students. We, too, have seen the need. However, the question is, how valid is our complaint? After all, instructors are human and can make mistakes. But to promptly analyze the situation, it is necessary for the COLLEGIAN to present in a future edition a questionnaire in which the student may register his name.

The purpose of the questionnaires will not be to undermine the confidence of students but rather to serve as a definite and constructive criticism to improve the facilities. When the answers are compiled, the faculty can do what it wants with the results of the questionnaires. However, it is our opinion that it will do well to give proper attention to a valid criticism.

K. N. BURNESS

Alumni News

Since the time of its foundation the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has been able to attract some of the greatest minds in the entertainment industry. Among those who have graced its halls is none other than the legendary Shirley Temple.

Temple’s career began in the early 1930s when she was discovered by producer Jack Mather at a talent show and quickly rose to fame as a child star. Her infectious charm and talent won the hearts of audiences around the world, and she became one of the most successful child actors of all time.

Over the years, Temple continued to work in the entertainment industry, appearing in numerous films and TV shows. She even served as a United States Ambassador to Czechoslovakia from 1988 to 1992.

Although Temple retired from acting in 1950, her influence on the film industry is still felt today. She is considered one of the greatest actresses of all time, and her legacy continues to inspire aspiring actors and filmmakers around the world.

In 2017, Temple was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom by President Barack Obama, becoming the first woman in history to receive the honor. She has also been honored with numerous awards and recognitions throughout her career, including an Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress for her role in "The Little Colonel."
Early season baseball is usually weird, but the fans who witnessed the recent game between the Kenyon Yeomen and the freshly-installed Foreign Legionnaires were in for a treat. It was a game that could hardly have been scripted any better. The action was fast and furious, with both teams showing off their skills in exciting ways. The Yeomen, led by Frank Petersen, brought their A-game to the diamond, while the Foreign Legionnaires, under the guidance of Coach Jackson, gave it their all. The Yeomen scored early and often, while the Foreign Legionnaires fought back with everything they had, but it was not enough. The Yeomen emerged victorious with a score of 5-1, leaving the Foreign Legionnaires to ponder what might have been. But for the Yeomen fans, it was a night to remember, and they left the field with their hopes high for the rest of the season. The Yeomen look forward to their next game, hoping to延续 their winning streak and keep their fans cheering from the stands. It was a game that will be remembered as one of the best of the season, and a game that will be talked about for years to come.
Continued from Page 1

North Hamma continued its win-
ing streak by capturing the intrumural bowling tournament. Its team comprised of Bob Stanwix, Jim Syan, and Bob Gillis defeated the Middle Hamma men's 3 to 1. The intermural score for the leaders in bowling was as follows: North Hamma 20, Middle Hamma 27, South Hamma 4.

Two highly contested basketball games brought South Leonard and North Hamma together for the class 3 title. North Hamma scored an 11-6 victory over South Lam-
na. Consequently, the boys are all that stand in the way of the Phil-
Opper taking the class B title to their class of championships.

The leaders in the intramural league will have a chance to achieve their goal when intramural track begins. The preliminaries in the 10 and the 50 yard dash will be held April 21; the other events, to be announced later, will be held on April 20.

COFFIN, LARWILL

Continued from Page 3

Since the war and the early twenties, is accountable for the prestige which Kenyon and Oberlin held during the conference. It is now more than before than that it is the smaller school which is most likely to deal with the problems arising in the institutions of learning today.

North Hamma continued its win-
ing streak by capturing the intru-
mural bowling tournament. Its team comprised of Bob Stanwix, Jim Syan, and Bob Gillis defeated the Middle Hamma men's 3 to 1. The intermural score for the leaders in bowling was as follows: North Hamma 20, Middle Hamma 27, South Hamma 4.

Two highly contested basketball games brought South Leonard and North Hamma together for the class 3 title. North Hamma scored an 11-6 victory over South Lam-
na. Consequently, the boys are all that stand in the way of the Phil-
Opper taking the class B title to their class of championships.

The leaders in the intramural league will have a chance to achieve their goal when intramural track begins. The preliminaries in the 10 and the 50 yard dash will be held April 21; the other events, to be announced later, will be held on April 20.

COFFIN, LARWILL

Continued from Page 3

Since the war and the early twenties, is accountable for the prestige which Kenyon and Oberlin held during the conference. It is now more than before than that it is the smaller school which is most likely to deal with the problems arising in the institutions of learning today.
Striking Out With the Umpire

I was just standing there about three feet off first base at the opening baseball game of the season and enjoying myself immensely. As I watched the infield throw the "old hill" around the horn, I smiled at the thought of baseball season being here at last. Then as I touched a match to my cigarette, I felt a light tap on my shoulder. I turned slowly, not wishing to take my eyes off the field, and gave the intruder an inquiring look. He greeted me for a short time, apparently waiting until I was ready to give him my full attention. I spoke first and, as it turned out, was the only one to speak.

"You're going to emulate this game," he said.

The words were spoken in a soft voice but to me they sounded like a vacuum seeping into the middle of a quiet room. I tried to say something but couldn't. My heart raced upon my tongue and beat at a terrific pace. For one time I started shaking and that the other until finally some sort of nervous tip from head to feet.

At last my mind started to function. Thoughts formed throughout my mind. Terrible thoughts. I thought of the time that someone has been in to keep the angry crowd away. I thought of the recent article I had read in the newspaper. "Handball umpires commit suicide because of financial problems." But I knew differently, then I know he had committed suicide instead of getting a bunch of workers on the ball diamond. I certainly didn't deserve all this trouble. Just standing my entrance's shirt. I thought of what a perfect time this was to get eac hone of us up on the ball diamond. I thought of crying away but decided I had better return to the game. Slowly I picked my way to my position directly behind the pitcher and watched the first hitter walk up to the plate.

"Hey, it's Johnny," I thought.

Barbara Stanwyck says:

"Luckies make a hit with my throat"

"When talking pictures arrived, my stage experience on Broadway gave me my chance on the screen. Taking care of my throat became serious business with me, so I changed to Luckies—a light smoke. Of course I smoke other cigarettes now and then but sooner or later I come back to Luckies. They make a hit with my throat and also with my taste."

TAYLOR WINES

Pitts St, Half Gal. $1.50, Gal. $2.00

(Tax Paid)

Troll in Bottles, 2 for 6, case $2.50

Midland Club in Cin. $1.50 per case, case $2.50

MYERS SUPPLY CO.

Everything for the Party
14 W. High St. Mt. Vernon
Open 8:00 A.M. to Midnight
Except Sunday

PITKIN'S PROVISION STORE

The Best in Foods

135-137 South Main St.
Mt. Vernon, Ohio

A Light Smoke

"It's Toasted"—Your Throat Protection

AGAINST IRRITATION—AGAINST COUGH

A Light Smoke

"It's Toasted"—Your Throat Protection

AGAINST IRRITATION—AGAINST COUGH

Copyright 1937, The American Tobacco Company
Wednesday, April 14 - Executive meeting 4:45 p.m., Commons Lounge. Glue Club concert with movie, "Wizard of Oz." (unless only at Vine theatre.

Thursday, April 15 - M. Jarques Kayser born in Lowell lecture series.

Friday, April 16 - Tennis, Wesleyan, 4 p.m. Choir practice, 4:45 p.m. 20.

Saturday, April 17 - Tennis, Otterbein, here. Last weekend International Relations conference. Dance in evening.

POLO

Continued from Page 2

Marle Alle: Art Watts, who is making steady progress and is a prospective No. 1 player along with Nunn and Al Harris, who is show- ing up well in practice.

Pole lacrosse will be awarded to Alek, Michael, and Cook. Bobby McNamara, winning star for the past two seasons, will be cap- tain of the polemen next season.

The results:

Kenyon 14, Mansfield 14

Kenyon 12:3, Mansfield 9

Michigan State 14:5, Kenyon 10

Kenyon 8:5, Michigan State 14

Cowboys 11, Kenyon 7

Cornell 14:3, Kenyon 12:1

Kenyon 21, Dulver 19

Kenyon 12:4, Dulver 8

Kenyon 23, Owatonna 17:6

Kenyon 19, Cincinnati 15:6

Kenyon 3:4, First Cleveland 9

Princeton 16, Kenyon 14

Appointment...

Robert Davies, of the dining class, 27, received word last week that he had been appointed to a fellowship in the graduate school of History at Princeton University.

Davies completed the four years work in three and one half years, and is now at his home in Dayton. He will go to Princeton in September to take up his new duties as student teacher.

UNSOLVED MYSTERY NO. 582

WHEN WILL THE MAY DANCE OCCUR?

REWARD FOR SOLUTION

The campus was torn this week by its greatest mystery since the discovery of a horse worshiping in the chapel. Immediately after the COLLIGAN screamed in head- lines that the dance would be held on May 7 and 8, Russell C. Gruber, head of the dance committee, said that he had lied in our teeth, that the date of the dance was not yet set. Subsequently, in the third de- cree by Mac Foy, Drummer G. Man, Gruber stated, "Those guys knows as much about the dance as I do, and I'd like to voley over to South Main street There is, however, no truth in the rumor that school will be extended a month in order to have a suitable weekend for the dance.

New Slax

With Highwaists, Tapered Legs, and All the Style Features. at

LEMASTERS' GROCERY

Ice Cream Soft Drinks Cigarettes Gamblers, Ohio

Compliments of The People's Bank

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORP

The World's Record Holder...Glenn Hardin...Going Over the Hurdles

WAITING for the gun—when nervous tension reaches the peak. Because of his shaky nerves, Glenn Hardin smokes Camels. "They don't get on my nerves," he says.

SAILING over a low hurdle—Glenn's strained face shows how the race drains tremendous phys- ical and nervous energy.

TOPPING a high hurdle—supporting Glenn win 2 Olympics—set the world's rec- ord. His time for the 440-meter box distance was sensational—50.6 seconds!

SPRUNTING on the finish—Glenn calls on all his nerve energy. And after the finish, he lights a Camel. "Camels give me a lift and ease the tension," he says.

THE YOUNGEST MAN on the Olympic track squad. Glenn Hardin was only 20 years old when he won his first Olympic victory for the U. S. He eats sensibly—takes good digestion for granted. The picture below shows Glenn enjoying his favorite meal—rice, thick, juicy steak, green vegetables, fruit, milk, and Camels. As Glenn phrases it: "It wouldn't do me much good to eat and not digest properly.

So I smoke Camels for digestion's sake. It's grand to light up Camels and enjoy the sense of well-being that comes when digestion's o.k."

WORKS HARD on all five college courses.

"Rege" Kennedy, 40, says: "I smoke Camels pretty steadily—they ease the tension of long, hard concentra-

MRS. ANTHONY J. DREXEL 2nd says:

"Social life keeps nerves on the qui vive. Smoking Camels tends to minimize the strain. I find Camels are so mild.

AS SPOKESMAN for the hard times of a leading air-line, Betty Steffen observes: "Camels help me keep feeling popped-up. I smoke all 1's. Camels never get on my nerves."

CAMELS NEVER GET ON YOUR NERVES!