COROLIANUS CLOSES 38-39 DRAMA SEASON

Handling Of Difficult Plot And Staging is Praised By Theatre Goers

The Kenyon Collegian would like to present its congratulations to Shawner, Ohio, for its contribution to the dramatic field.

Theatre-goers were presented with a difficult plot and staging in the play, "Oracle," presented by the Collegian. The plot centers around the character of the Colossus, who is played by a group of students. The production was considered very well done, with the Colossus achieving a high level of performance.

Some students have expressed a desire to see the play repeated, as they found it difficult to understand. However, others have praised the staging and direction of the production, stating that it was an impressive achievement.

Playwrights have been invited to submit their works for consideration in the future, and the Collegian plans to continue to present challenging and thought-provoking productions to its audience.

Seniors Bow Out After Busy Week With Four Presentations

The annual dinner of the Drama Club, held in the private dinner room of Mr. Morris Cobbey, was attended by three students. The dinner was followed by a presentation of "The Oracle," a play by Professor Cobbey. The presentation was well received by the audience, and it is hoped that the play will be performed again in the future.

First Year Debaters To Meet Wittenberg

John Abbott, Robert Thomas, Bober, and Wittenberg's current Kenyon on first year debate, will meet at 8 p.m. on April 25 at the Kenyon College for a debate on the topic of "The Oracle." The debate will be judged by Professor Cobbey and the audience is invited to attend.

The debate will be held in the auditorium of the Kenyon College, and it is expected that there will be a large turnout of students and faculty.

College Headed for Complete Gov’t. Domination Says Amherst President

Amherst, Mass. — (AP) — The administration at Amherst College has announced that the university administration that has been in charge of the institution for the past 10 years has been completely superseded by Amherst College officials. Pointing out that when colleges are not able to wean young people from the policies they have forced on them, they will not be able to maintain the supremacy of their institutions. By that means, the administration will be able to eliminate the temptation of government. The policy that was adopted for the current year was to invite several more supervisory commissions may consequently be established.

Kenyon-Manfield Fight Together To

Dear Mr. Reed:

It is our belief that the “College” should become concerned with the financial status of the college only when state aid begins to make itself felt by us in the college and the payment of out.

In this connection, we are sure that the policy of providing adequate emergency services, which is the concern of the president’s pocketbook, is being carried on in the best interests of the students. The student body is not satisfied because they are not given the full amount of the cost of course in college tuition.

This college is in a small town. We believe that the budget has been sent to the president by several students and will be considered.

Kenyon is a college which is located in the heart of the town. The officers have been on the campus of the college for several years and have expressed themselves before any college.

Bad Manners

Of all the troubles which are ever known, none can be written, the notes known better than the one that says, “You ought to be ashamed of yourself.”

It is our belief that when some individual attempts to study for this type of examination, any previous comments which might be made to little effect. We are determined to do our utmost to continue our efforts in good faith and will not be deterred by any such actions.

Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir,

Several weeks before Kenyon’s war has ended, I believe that without any question the college is the object of much interest. I have no doubt that the college is the object of much interest. I have no doubt that the college is the object of much interest. I have no doubt that the college is the object of much interest.

The week’s events have progressed so quickly and so swiftly that a score of students have been worried about a worse time of it. The conclusion that the college is the object of much interest is not a new one, yet I do think that I have a definite point from which to make an appeal. It would, seem, from little remarks of the Division. As students of Kenyon, we do not see in every unique situation, that it is the college that shall be considered as the object of much interest. We shall not be able to tell the students who go into the college in the same spirit.

Kenyon is a college which has a history of several years. Its manners and its customs have been passed down through the ages and are known to be a fine person. who will make the college a better place.

Respectfully yours,

A. PAGAN

Plan Early Practice
For Spring Schedule
In Intramural Polo

Practice for Intramural polo will begin immediately after spring ve-ration if the ground is dry enough by that time. The championship will be determined by a series of games to be played in early May.
The contests will be held outside of regular practice time. Each team is to consist of two players, and it is expected that at least two comeeens will enter the competition.
Notice that a member of each team will be announced soon after practice in January.
