J. Donald Young Initiates Kenyon Health Campaign

Declaring that "Health is good for the mind, body, and soul," J. Donald Young early this week offered a discussion on the promotion of Health Week on the campus of Kenyon College.

The week has been and will continue to be marked by a wide range of activities designed to bring students a better understanding of the value of health in the lives of all Kenyon students. First of all, the program was a delinquent conviction, involving more than 25 students and numerous faculty members, at which a final resolution to the effect that more notices be taken of health was made. The program included a test for students to determine the number of cigarettes that could be consumed in one week.

"KEEP HEALTHY" is the keynote of the week. The author of the week-long program is J. Donald Young, a member of the Class of 1936, who was born in Kenton, Ohio, and is a graduate of Kenyon College, where he received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1936. He is now a member of the staff of the Kenyon College Health Service.

The program consists of a series of lectures on the subject of health, which will be given by Dr. Robert B. Blythe, the Medical Director of the Kenyon College Health Service. The lectures will be held in the afternoon of each day of the week.

The program also includes a series of health talks, which will be given by various members of the faculty and staff of the College. These talks will cover a wide range of topics, and will be given by members of the faculty and staff of the College.

The program concludes with a series of health exercises, which will be given by members of the faculty and staff of the College. These exercises will be held in the afternoon of each day of the week.

Behind the Political Front

Theodore von Stade, the new political reporter, is still as engrossed in political issues as he has been in the past. With three months left on his term, he has been preparing for the political bulletin that will be bought on the corner next year. The little town of Gambier is going to be the first of its kind to have a political bulletin. The idea is to give the people a way of guiding politics for the future.

The editors of the "Gambier Herald" have formed a Committee for Political Bulletin, with the following as their officers: Associate Editor Jack Ambrose, Business Manager George W. McMillin, Consulting Manager Richard Shepherd, and Administrative Manager William Wilcox.

YES WHY PANGO

Little Pango was walking down the road from his home to school when he got a call from his dad. "Hey, Pango, when you get home from school, can you pick up some groceries?" his dad asked. "Sure, Dad," Pango replied. With that, he started walking down the road. As he walked, he noticed a small animal called a squirrel. The squirrel was jumping through the air, trying to catch some fruit that was falling from a tree. Pango watched the squirrel for a while, and then decided to chase after it. He ran as fast as he could, but the squirrel was too fast for him. Finally, after a few minutes of chasing, the squirrel got tired and stopped. Pango approached the squirrel and asked, "Hey, little guy, why are you running so fast?" The squirrel replied, "I'm trying to get away from that big dog over there." Pango looked around and saw that there was a large dog barking at the squirrel. Without thinking, Pango jumped on the dog and held it down. The dog struggled a little, but Pango was too strong. After a few minutes, the dog gave up and let Pango go. Pango then helped the squirrel back to its nest and walked home. When he got home, his dad was surprised to see him. "What happened to you?" his dad asked. "I helped a squirrel," Pango replied. "Why did you do that?" his dad asked. "Because it needed help," Pango answered.

Derby Disgusts Kenyon Retinue
Victory Forecast In Previous Article.

Last Saturday, 60,000 people saw a great horse win a poor race—the great horse being Johnstown—the poor race being the Kentucky Derby. This race was run in exceptionally low time. Johnstown completed the mile and a quarter oval in 2:03 3-5, about two seconds slower than Twenty Grand's track record of 2:01 4-5 of 1932. But who witnessed the race would say that it was Johnstown all the way. Johnstown, first to spring out of the barrier closely followed by the little filly Twenty Grand. The yearling's forecast, made his bid for the lead during the first eighth of a mile. At Chillin, sprightly, was able to stay along side of Johnstown, but did not lead him, and at the quarter-mile 1 1/2 Chillin dropped back and was gaining on Johnstown about a two length lead over the pursuing Twenty Grand. From then on Johnstown increased his lead from two lengths over Twenty Grand's best efforts of pursuers. In the stretch Chillin lost and Twenty Grand moved up on Johnstown to battle it out for second place eight lengths behind Johnstown.

Johnstown ran like a true champion. He kept his head and steadily going away from the field. He could have easily clipped another second from his time but it wasn't necessary. Jacky Brown did nothing but sit and steadily the big one out of Johnstown; not once did he hit Johnstown with the bit, or urge him to greater speed. Johnstown finished eight lengths ahead of Chillin, Brother Brown, and Twenty Grand, second and fourth places going respectively to those three hundred seconds.

Mt. Vernon Girl Snags Fortune
At Bank Nite

Last Wednesday night Fortune in the guise of patina Jim Platt of the "Vermont Evening Press" dropped in at the bank of the district and met John White, city manager of the Mont. Vernon High School and an accomplished athlete, who is a graduate of the Mont. Vernon High School. John White, who is a pretty back-eyed bruiser, was probably astonished to hear his name read in connection of a back night Jack and his name was printed in the school and with typi cal speed his name was worked out as part of the evening's program. A handball game and a series of track events rounded out the evening's program. John White 'pose steady' with Mont. Vernon boy, while Gray, who is undoubtedly as good as John White about his good luck. And not at all unimpressed to the thought was the fact that the writer is some distance from John White, and was able to hear the program.
