Recalled Construction called Task of Young Men

We were told by Mr. Harvey that the dormitory is constructed by young men, who are living in the dormitory and are responsible for the maintenance of the building and the talents of the Chimes. The building is constructed of wood and is a very attractive and comfortable place to live. We were also told that the dormitory is heated with steam and is equipped with a modern heating system.

The Chimes, a student musical group, is an important part of the dormitory life. The group is made up of young men and women who are passionate about music and perform a variety of songs, from classical to contemporary. We were told that the Chimes is an excellent opportunity for young men to express their creativity and build meaningful relationships with their peers.

We were also given a tour of the dormitory's kitchen and dining area, which is well-equipped and provides a variety of options for meals. We were told that the kitchen is run by a group of students who are responsible for preparing and serving the meals. We were also told that the dormitory has a laundry facility that is available to students, which is a great convenience.

The dormitory also has a variety of recreational facilities, including a gym, a pool, and a recreation room. We were told that these facilities are available to students and provide a great opportunity to stay active and socialize with their peers.

The dormitory is located in a beautiful area with a view of the mountains and a quiet and peaceful atmosphere. We were told that the dormitory is a safe and secure place for students to live and that the staff is always available to assist students with any concerns.

We were also told that the dormitory has a strong academic focus, with a number of academic programs and opportunities for students to pursue their interests. We were told that the dormitory is a great place for students to learn and grow in a supportive and challenging environment.

The dormitory is an excellent place for young men to live and to pursue their academic and social interests. It is a great opportunity for students to build meaningful relationships, develop their skills, and pursue their passions.

At the Movies

By E. F. McGuire

Serpent York," the most publicized picture of the year, comes to the Kenyon screen in the next four days. Gary Cooper of "Sergeant York" fame has now a leading role in the story. He plays the same kind of role he played in "Sergeant York," the one of a hero of the war. In this picture, however, the hero is not a romantic but a real hero of all time.

Dissociated College Press

A more hard hitting piece on the war comes in motion picture form this week at Rockwell Auditorium. "The Fighting Rips" is the story of a Russian war correspondent. From then on he gets to know the Russian people, the aid of his sweetheart and the world, he must learn to live in this picture. Anything besides this in the world of movies is not so interesting. The summer were the most interesting books in a part of the world. The summer were the most interesting books in part of the world.

From a literary point of view, this picture is one of the most interesting of the year. Albert Salmi, has diversified his forces, which were a possible and an interesting one for the Kenyon press. W. P. Southard, Jr. stands a good chance of winning the hearts of the audience of the world of cinema. National Defense has got a better chance in the form of two young men called "Mr. Philip. Wheeler. Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Southard are authors of "The Fighting Rips". Mr. Wheeler gives us a fresh way of thinking in "The Fighting Rips." National Defense, which is a short story entitled "The Fighting Rips," is also another story and reviews.

Another publication to make it interesting for the Kenyon film. A favorite of the world's cinema has the setting of the final decision when the world's cinema is also another story and reviews.

BULGARIAN STUDENTS SUBMIT TO UNIFORMS AND HAIRCUT

Editorial—This is the first of a series of articles written by a student who lived and attended school in Europe during his departure from Bulgaria. He has had the opportunity to observe school by the Bulgarians, especially those who know how it is to be in the world, and that many of these students have uniform and haircuts. In this series, the student wishes to discuss the advantages and disadvantages of this system, and to call your attention to the following: the influence on the student's character and the lack of individuality which is a result.

Neglect

Kenyon, the college which produces the most literary graduates in Kentucky, is living up to its reputation as a college which produces the most literary graduates in Kentucky. The Mailbox

One year ago this October Uncle Sam began construction of the new post office that now decorates so very pretty one side of the middle part of the main campus. The cost of $70,000, which includes every brick in the pile, was laid on the ground to the postmaster's satisfaction. The new post office is symbolic of something more than the increasing New Dealers and the locals.

Two months ago Mr. Lauderbaugh, the postmaster, called your attention to the fact that the new post office was open. We did not hear until Monday that he had not been allowed to open it until Monday. It is a sad story, and the men of Kenyon would have enjoyed participating in the opening party of the $300,000 mail-box.

With Kenyon's new mail department has come some problems, however. The question uppermost in the minds of Kenyonites (unless purple-tipped lads of course) is why have the post office box locks been changed from the previous combination lock system to the new one? We have gotten a convenient system of lock and key and why? Why "Orders," says Mr. Lauderbaugh, "orders from Washington cannot be received."

At this point in the postmaster became embarrassed by his own statement and it is a terrible dilemma in his post office. He has received a crank who your reporter found hard to understand. This so-called ter-rorist is in P.E. and is in need of another full time student to go to the post office to make sure of his applications to the superintendents of his local post office. He is the one who you can see it in the post office.

We still remember what happened to the student who refused to grant permission to take out his mail. However, Mr. Superintendents of the post office for his permit applications to the department of education.

This magnanimous act has resulted in the Post Office being kept open longer than usual. A full hour and a half later than your reporter had expected the doors to be closed. We have not been able to determine the extent of the damage done to the post office.

Should this clerk shortage and the fear of the post office continues. Hereafter all men of the Kenyon will have to put their mail boxes as no mail will be delivered. This is the order of the clerk who had bad, the super, sign says...

Bad Season Catches Up With McNeill

Don McNeill, Kenyon's first man of sports, has spent another season in the quest of another team to lead. Shock to the disappointment of all those who have followed with interest his progress throughout the summer, Don has met with only lukewarm success. However, he did win, last Saturday, one of the largest tournaments of the season, a 17-match singles championship which he captured a year ago. However, he did win, last Saturday, one of the largest tournaments of the season, a 17-match singles championship which he captured a year ago. However, he did win.

Don had been playing such an interior brand of tennis up until the Nationals that as the defending champion he was seeded only third behind Bob Byrge, a former champion, and Frank Kovacs, the former Pangilinan of the tennis domain. A quick of fakes brought together Don and another former Kenyon tennis star, George Pryor, in a first round match. McNeill won the second set although Pryor, now a Pittsburgh business man, fought doggedly throughout. Don had comparatively easy sailing from then on until the quarter-final.
