ROBERT FROST RETURNS TO KENYON

Mr. Robert Frost, poet and author, will be on the Hill this weekend and Monday and will give a lecture in the Speech Building Auditorium at eight o'clock Monday evening. At this lecture Mr. Frost will give a talk and readings from several of his poems.

A former visiting lecturer at Kenyon, Mr. Frost was here for some time during the 1940-41 Term. He is the author of a number of books, most of which are in the Kenyon Library. Among these are A Boy's Will, Mountain Interval, and North of Boston.

Sunday evening Mr. Frost will be initiated into Philomathesian Society as an honorary member, according to an announcement by Richard Timberlake, chairman of the membership committee. During the course of the meeting he will sign his name in the old and worn minute book of the organization. This meeting will be open to all the students on the campus. It is expected that Mr. Frost will give readings from several of his poems after which there will be an informal discussion.

ICHIRO HASOGAWA COMES TO KENYON

As part of the plan of the National Student Relocation Council to place American citizen students of Japanese descent in inland colleges away from West Coast military areas, Mr. Ichiro Hasogawa has been assigned to Kenyon. Ichiro, whose nickname is Ichy, was born in Seattle. Before his evacuation early this (Continued on page three)

CINZONE TO PLAY FOR FALL DANCE

Kenyon's formal dance with the Senior Council and the Rye-bucks as joint hosts will be held November 7 in the dining room of Peirce Hall from ten P.M. to three A.M. Music for the dancing will be furnished by Ray Cinson, a former member of Claude Thornhill's band. Cinson, a trumpeter, has now taken over part of Thornhill's disbanded combine. Featured with the band is a girl trio. Free beer will be served during the dance.

Entertainment for Kenyon men and their dates on Saturday afternoon will be in the form of the Kenyon-Wabash football game in Benson Bowl at 2:15. Many parties have been planned by various divisions on the Hill for the entertainment of students and their guests following the football game and before and after the dance.

There will be no meals served to students tomorrow night or Sunday morning in the Commons so that guests may be entertained at dinner Sunday free of charge.

KUTLER BEGINS NEW GYM PROGRAM

With the football season at an end, Rudy Kutler will take over the physical training program and reorganize it on more of a military basis.

The class will be organized as a battalion, which will be subdivided into squads of nine men each. Squad leaders will be appointed for two or four week periods, and will be responsible (Continued on page two) for taking attendance in their group as well as leading it through the daily schedule.

Competition between and within the squads will be the basis of the program and should serve to make it more interesting for everyone concerned. Mr. Kutler has drawn up a tentative schedule which he hopes to adhere to for the remainder of the term. Mondays will be devoted to an hour of calisthenics, and the battalion will spend Tuesdays doing manual labor on construction projects. Boxing and rough-and-tumble fighting are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

On Thursdays the men will continue the cross-country work that formed the basis of the course earlier this fall, and will wind up on Fridays with another dose of calisthenics.
LODERS FACE WABASH IN FINALE

Tomorrow afternoon at Benson Bowl the Kenyon Lords will face their toughest opponent when they wind up the current season against the Little Giants of Wabash. Coach Pete Vaughan's eleven will bring an undefeated, untied record to Gambier as they bid for the Indiana Conference title. Only DePauw now stands between Wabash and the coveted crown.

To date the Little Giants have downed Rose Poly, Franklin, Butler and Earlham. Principal factors in these four victories have been Earl Dowd, Dick Keilbur, and John Fee, freshman halfback sensation. Fullback Dowd is a powerful line-smasher, and from all indications the Purple and White forward wall will have a busy afternoon when he gets into action.

Wabash uses the Notre Dame System offensively, shifting from a formation to the single-wingback. Defenseally they are weak on passes but otherwise present a formidable barrier to opposing ball-carriers. The team is big and heavy and it should have the advantage in weight tomorrow.

As for the Kenyon side of the picture, it can best be summed up by quoting the words of Coach Rudy Butler: "They'll be tough—plenty tough—but the boys always play their best game when the odds are against them. Many of them are about to play their last college game, and you can be sure that they will give everything they have to wind up their careers with a victory."

Last weekend the Lords absorbed their second shutout of the campaign at the hands of the Oberlin Yeomen. Coach Lyndale Butler's crimson and gold cubs athletes hung up their first score in the second period when they blocked a Kenyon kick and they tallied again in the final canto on a 26 yard gallop.

SWIMMING PROSPECTS GOOD

The varsity swimming team begins its training season on Nov. 9th. This year Kenyon is expected to have a team of championship caliber, and from all indications thus far Coach Chuck Imel's squad will be a strong contender for sectional and national honors. Captained by Bill Balle, the Lords' outstanding ace of last year, the team is expected to have the type of leadership necessary to carry them to the top of the Chio Conference, a position Kenyon was edged out of by Oberlin last season.

Returning lettermen include Captain Blakes, Pierce Sahnset, and Carl Fuller. Also returning are Bob and Jack Kontigny, Otto Kuehn, Don Twining, Ed Shorkey, Al Stewart, Ed Nugent and others. This year since freshmen are allowed to take part in varsity competition, they will probably make up a good part of the team. Prospects include Bob Hanlon, Ted Weiant, Tom Lechner, and Joe Kostock. Bill Harsha, a transfer from Michigan, is considered an excellent prospect. Bill is a junior and swam under Matt Mann, Michigan's great coach.

The first meet will be an exhibition at Cleveland on Dec. 9. The official season begins after the Christmas holidays. Due to various complications and uncertain conditions, the schedule is still unannounced.

DRAMATIC CLUB PRESENTS
"THE EVE OF ST. MARK"

Kenyon's first fall term at war finds some activities relegated to a semi-dormant position, but the Dramatic Club will present its regular production a play that finds its theme in the war.

The Eve of St. Mark, Manu14's newest play, will be presented by the club, under the auspices of the Department of Speech and with the aid of the Play Production class. Mr. Thomas Sawyer, only recently returned from scenes even more realistic than those Anderson has written, will direct and he has set a Sunday matinee, and a Monday evening performance, November 18 and 19, as the tentative production dates.

Andersen, already a favorite at Kenyon by virtue of the 1938 production of Both Your Houses, has quite a remarkable play in The Eve of St. Mark. asked by the National Theater Conference to write a play for October and November production by college and community theatres, he has produced the first play ever to open on Broadway and throughout the nation simultaneously. This is a notable victory for the Conference, which has been striving for months to bring together a professional play in all of New York, and its success is attested by virtue of a most successful run on Broadway as well as in forty-six amateur or semi-professional theatres. A majority of New York critics, including Brooks Atkinson and Burns Mantle, have acclaimed it "the foremost play of the season."

Its timeliness, its freshness, and its close affiliation with the mind of American youth of today make its Kenyon production destined for success. The tentative cast now in rehearsal include Claire Owen, Phil Fendig, Martha Wilson, Wesley Baylor, Catherine Titus, George Hills, Virginia Irwin, Gil Williams, and many more.

HUMMEL TO SPEAK ON CHINA

Dr. Arthur W. Hummel of the Division of Orientalia of the Library of Congress will address the Kenyon College Assembly on the subject, "China and Post-War World" on Tuesday November 10 in Rosea Hall. Dr. Hummel will go to the college several days next week, and in addition to his talk before the assembly, will give a lecture Wednesday evening at eight P.M. in Philanthropist Hall on the subject "Some Contributions That China Can Make To The West."

For many years Dr. Hummel was a teacher of commerce at the University of Japan and later taught English at the Ming-i Middle School at Fenchow, China. Recently he was connected with Harvard University and is now the chief of the Asiatic Division of the Library of Congress. He is author of the "Autobiography of a Chinese Historian"
