FISHBACK SPEAKS ON GOVERNMENT

At the regular college assembly May 23 Mr. Howard G. Fishback, who is with the Detroit Bureau of Government Research and is associated with the National Training School for Public Service, spoke upon the subject "Some Problems of Municipal Government.

"As long as our cities expanded, there was no particular problem," said Mr. Fishback, "but the expansion of our cities was pretty well stabilized with the end of the real estate boom in 1929."

There are seven pressing problems that must be met by city governments. They are:
1. The "soft core of cities" of the city must not be allowed to spread, and must be eliminated.
2. Slum clearance is necessary to prevent the soft core from spreading.
3. The question of public or private housing. "In my opinion," said Mr. Fishback, "it is a question whether the city, and now cities of government, should undertake such matters. However, I do not think it is part of democracy to say when we should house and when we should not house.
4. The city must be considered as an economic unit, rather than a political subdivision.
5. The city should find new sources of revenue to relieve the property holders.
6. The city government must have better control of its finances, and the citizens themselves must, through education, take a greater part in affairs of the city.

G. I. Association Formed
chapters already have been forwarded to GI groups at the Illinois Institute of Technology, Duke University, Ohio State University, Lehigh University, the city, Louisiana State University, the University of North Dakota, the University of Wyoming, Boston University, and others. The association at present is operating along fraternal lines, although it is in no sense a fraternity, for men attending colleges under the GI Bill of Rights, or a similar law, or as individuals. Servicewomen also are entitled to join the association and it is entirely possible that units eventually may be established in co-educational and women's colleges for members of the SPARS, WAVES, WACS, and women Marines attending college under the GI Bill of Rights.

The Editors and Managers of the Kenyon Collegian
Gentlemen:
Congratulations and thanks for the excellent Reallegian number of the Collegian!
As I look back over the last three years I realize that having necessarily suspended publication of the Reallegian and having provided no substitute for it we missed something very valuable to the College history and this issue of the Collegian fills the gap for at least one of the three years.
While the trustees, administration, faculty and alumni generally credited with having brought Kenyon through the war as well as any men's college in the country and better than most, the excellent attitude of the students, their energy and industry and their insistence on maintaining as many of the Kenyon traditions as possible, has represented no small contribution.
No one knows better than I how difficult and how different college has been since 1942 and no one knows better than I how well the student body has accepted the restrictions of war time and how much has it contributed to the College we love. The contribution is apparent now but it will be more apparent as we start to rebuild College after the war and that rebuilding will be the easier for it.
The Kenyon Collegian, venerable and time-honored, has provided an important part of this contribution and those of you who are responsible for it... deserve the thanks of all of us and I assure you that you have it in full measure.
Yours sincerely,
ROBERT E. BROWN,
Dean of Students.
