Rush To Complete Field House For Xmas Christening

Deferred only by shortages of vital material, the Welch-Hanlon Field House is progressing at a rate that schedules Christmas completion date.

The building, for which ground was broken on March 4, was to have been ready in September for the first football game. Under completion, the actual building space has been in place since July, and the building is as far along as laid. The actual work now being done is the installation of the interior of the place. The basketball court has been laid, and the track is being surfaced.

The field house will have rooms available to the faculty, and club rooms. One will be converted to offices. Those who have charge of the students' work will be housed in the area devoted to their interest. The capacity of handling a track was developed by the University of Ohio, and has been proven to be the fastest track, the chips containing the right degree of moisture at all times.

So far there has been no sentiment that the auditorium is ample for large crowds.

The most urgently needed element, it is reported, is the indoor pipe system, which must be put in before work can be done on any part of the walls.

Profs To Report To Grand Jury

Professors Warner and Rice, tennis faculty members, were appointed by the Knox County grand jury Monday night to serve on a panel of witnesses to assist in preparing a special report concerning the state's legal regulation of tennis. The two have served on various service organizations. It is also hoped a commission will be formed to make recommendations to the legislature.

The purpose of the report is to bring to the attention of existing statutes. Expectations are that discussion of the problems involved will be heard in various service organizations. It is also hoped a commission will be formed to make recommendations to the legislature.

The findings of the investigation will probably be published in several papers, sometimes, this month.

Let's Go Kenyon Men!

Extra Support needed for every student for tonight's game. We're out to Beat Olivet! Be at field early and stay till last gun. Let's all be part of a winning team.

Lords To Use Two Teams Against Olivet Tonight

Specialized football has come to Kenyon College. Coach Dave Henderson has been experimenting with a two-team system all week and plans to introduce it to Kenyon fans in tonight's game with Olivet. Whether or not this innovation will serve to improve the Lords will be a matter of opinion. High school football, according to Coach Henderson initiated the two-team system, which is composed of two separate units—one defensive and one offensive, after the showing the Lords put on Saturday.

Another factor that causes the change is the loss of star Tackle Dan Dunlap, for the game. The loss of Captain Dick Fornoff, the commander defensive unit whose knee injury will probably keep him on the sidelines tonight.

Olivet should prove to be one of the strongest pass defense in the Conference. In relief to Grover Smith, while the sun to watch on Michigan's eleven to Cobly Eberle.

Offensive Unit
Kenyon's offensive unit is playing the same as the regular line-up has been all season. Sam Rice, the tackle, is expected to be at end; Harvey Businger and Joe Smucker, Dunlap's most likely successors, at the tackles; Bill Stuter and Bood Hering, guards; and Pete Wever, center. Jack Morgan will be the center. This is the same backfield that Kelly and Don Brunman at the halves, is made up of veterans with all full constitute the backfield.

The defensive squad is composed of the same men as have participated in previous two games. Some experienced men, Only Tackle Bill Wilcox, 225 pound, behemoth, can be described as a surprise.

The other defeaters are Phil Best and Bill Cheyney, ends; Dick Dunlap, the same, and John Rice, and either Frank Conn or iron-man Samer, guards; Tom Berlin, center; and Len Beamer, Shannon, Quirt Drewitt, and Andy Bowers.

WSSF Campaign Goal Is $1500

John O. Perry, who accepted the chairmanship of the World Student Service Fund Campaign Committee on this campus, was named to the committee.

The Campaign Committee, which plans to hold the annual WSSF drive early in November, hopes to raise $1500.00 for student scholarships to deserving students, Perry, said.

"We appeal to all students who are concerned with the needs of these students, or those who have worked for us to support us in this drive," Perry declared.

The final decision made, only one team could be used in this day. The day was a failure of belonging kindred (sophomore express this as "consideration for our juniors") by an inability to do otherwise (which the "fuzzies" claimed to be done), will be the reason why the Freshmen (named Wet toes) would have groved this be- fore. In the next try, the Sopho- more staged a complete rout

This time the Freshmen held the cold.

From these two encounters, it was quite obvious that the side of the river which the Fresh- men held first was the most advantageous one. Still, for the

Pan-Hell Prexy Barton States Rush Regulations

Art Barton, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, in a special freshman assembly outlined the compromise rushing regulations which were established Monday.

"To assist in any questions which might arise, the College administers a summary of the Rush Regulations as follows:

Points number one and two of the Rush Regulations may be made from the beginning of the fall semester until the end of the College at the beginning of Christmas vacation, immediately following the Rush Banquet.

The Rush Banquet will be followed by the Rush Dance, which will be dis- played to prospective pledges. A rush dance is expected of every man and不少于 two hundred people attended. The number of rush acceptances will be limited to the number of vac- ants.

Next month, the same dates and times, the Rush Banquet and Rush Dance will be held.

No Rush Banquet will be held in the spring semester, but the Rush Banquet and Rush Dance will be held in the spring semester as well."

Tea Dance Draws Hundred People

Saturday the Social Committee sponsored a tea dance in the house of Prince Hall, which more than one hundred students attended. The number of guests attending the tea was limited to the number of teas that the Social Committee had planned.

The Banquet was held at the Great Hall, and many varied and richly decorated tables were placed around the room.

Student Assembly Approves Allocations To Hill Groups

The first Student Assembly meeting of the year was held Thursday afternoon in the Kenyon social room in the student union at the Assembly. The meeting was attended by a majority of the Student Assembly, and the Assembly passed resolutions Approving the Finance Committee's recommendations. Frost Jug-O-War With Sophs A Hit

The Sophomore-Freshman tug-"of-war, held last Saturday across the famous Kissingon, left a few doubts in some quarters as to which side claimed the day, but no one doubted that the event, which is an annual tradition, would be carried on in the spirit of the Kenyon tradition. From the starting gun until the last dripping of water was found, the two sides, the Sophomore, and the Junior side, were evenly matched. In the end, the Sophomore team was declared the winner.

The first part of the two-out-of-three matches, which has been the tradition, was held at the beginning of the afternoons, and was won by the Sophomore team. The second part of the match was held at the beginning of the afternoons, and was won by the Sophomore team. The Philomathesian Society

The Philomathesian Society concluded its first meeting of the year last Monday with a display of optimism and confidence that augurs well for the success of Kenyon's oldest honor literary society in the near future. Bob College and George Lance were elected president and vice-president—Program Committee chairman, respectively.

However, the most important business of the meeting was not the election of officers but rather the continuance of the organization from its extended lethargy (though that in a degree is due to the demands of the Constitution along more democratic and realistic lines. Instead of remaining a very exclusive do-nothing society, Phil will carry the interests of the society forward in a manner that is sure to excite a more active part in the life of the College community. That at any rate was the intention of the members as evidenced by the opinion expressed.

It is a very encouraging thing that the Philomathesians who attend the meeting and are members of the society has fallen into comparatively low esteem from its ancient and elitist position as an honor literary society, and have made place for more enthusiasm and real participation. This is the society, which was prevalent among the memberships of most of the Hill organizations last year, was particularly true of Phil. There seems to be hope. With a new College year and a new College spirit and hope, the old rutts of negativism have been avoided. It only remains for the small number of active members to prove that they are now going to mold their society into a vital intellectual group, which will put the Philomathesians on the map in a much respected intellectual institution of Kenyon College.

We think that they are going to do it. Things are looking up.

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

By BOB COLLINS

Since this column is being written on the day after the Wittenberg game, it won't be too joyous or even very cheerful. Judging by the broken noses, cracked teeth (and dis-appointed) crowd and the terribly fast Tiger team, and let it die. Things like that should quickly be thrust aside. But it looks like it couldn't be any better. In anything like the spirit that Wittenberg left with, we will just have to become increasingly friendly and other-worldly. And in bonds with a yen for seeing blood spattered football. What a horrible way to spend a Saturday night!

After a trial run in John Park's Hillman Mix, we report that electric and hand drives were found to be practical for a wide variety of applications. However, there are reports that it hasn't hampered him at all in his arduous expeditions.

Congratulations are in order for the Frosh in their tug-o-war with the Sophs. The river probably got the worst deal, however, since both teams eventually wound up in them. Although the Fuzzies come down the path after the battle singing and carrying the rope over their shoulders makes us even more certain than ever that this new bunch is a pretty good group. Anyway...we'll wait for the Cane Rush and war. Should be a good one.

Breaking our promise of the first paragraph, we feel compelled to add one or two more comments on that last football game. Ranny Bucy had the right idea when he started his small group jeering at those loyal sons of Kenyon who started leaving the game somewhere around the end of the third period. Despite the drizzly and dismal things happening to our team out on the field, they still were a Kenyon team, and as such, deserved our support. If even our fellow students wouldn't stay for one more quarter, how long do you suppose their parents are going to stay around and cheer us on? We should at least convince them that we're supporting our outfit whether they're good at Oberlin or horrid at Mount Vernon. And we're encouraging this, not by the things we say, but by the things we do.

Turning to more pleasant things...the line-up of plays for the coming season really sounds inviting. We were especially impressed with the idea of seeing 'Tie Me in a Tuff Knot,' and Chet Hall's audience might suggest May we suggest Ray Bentman for the robot in R.U.R.? And while we're talking about dramatics, we welcome Jim Amo back to the Hill and hope for a revival of the traditional songs at the Dan Emmett Grill.

We'll end PBLM this week with the hope that tonight's game will be a much better one than last week, and that the crowd goes home mumbled and head-shaking about the possible defeat. And if the next game goes against us, we'll have to stand up and take it. But we won't let you down in your sleep. Thank you.

The Kenyon...
For Frosh: Outline Of Gov't.

Kenyon's student government, operating in its first year under the new Constitution, is claiming much of the College's attention. This article aims to acquaint the campus, particularly this new men, with the student government and its leaders.

The primary function of the student government are the Student Assembly and the Student Council. The Student Assembly consists of all the registered students of Kenyon. Its leaders are Bob Carr, President, and Bob Williams, Secretary-Treasurer. These two men also sit on the Student Council, representing the student body as a whole. The Assembly is convened by the President about once a month. Its main object is to review all actions of the Student Council, to save judicial, and receive general policy statements made by the Student Council. By two-thirds the Assembly can, by a vote of the Council, invalidate and take substitute action. Its first meeting this year was held to ratify the effects of the approximations made by the Financial Council on Student Assembly.

The most important working unit of the campus government is the Student Council. It handles all matters of executive, legislative, and judicial, including bills that affect the campus and students. The Council consists of the Student Assembly, officers, representatives from each division, and representatives from Harcourt and Middle Kenyon. The president of the Student Council is elected by and for the student representatives. President Bill B. Potter calls and provides over all. The officers he votes only in case of tie, and serves as an ex-officio member of each committee.

Since spring, Potter has done a good job of organizing and co-ordinating the various Finance and the Council, which handle most of the Council affairs.

Chief of these committees in the Financial Committee. Members are Bob Benham, chairman, Charles Williams, Wilbur, Williams, Senior, and Bob Carr, and Harry Lang. Their main job is to allocate the Student Assembly's funds to the various student organizations on the Hill. They also issue licenses for all student enterprises selling to the campus. Faculty advisor is George White, auditor, to the College.

The Investigating Committee is headed by Bill Cherry. He is assisted by Bill Chadeayne, Joe, and Bob and Ron Goodman. This group investigates all violations of the campus code, and punishes the offenders. While the Investigating Committee gathers all available information and presents the facts to the court. In more serious cases, the Council acts in close consultation with the Dean's office. According to President Porter, the Investigating Council have done a remarkable job in carrying out their responsibility.

Speakers Committee

Another committee consisting of Members of the Assembly Speakers Committee, composed of Bob Carr, Tom Thomas, and Chuck Williams, this group meets regularly with President Cherry to select speakers for Tuesday Assembly talks.

Two important committees not part of the Council, but called for in the Constitution are the Social and Promotion Committees. The Social Committee consists of elected members from each class. Its chairman is Paul Casey, Jr. His duties are to organize and sponsor all social events on the campus, and to provide good entertainment for college weekends. The Promotion Committee, headed by Steve Carter and consisting of volunteers from the Council, publicizes all college events of student interest. With its membership of the Senior Council has much freedom of action and is in close contact with all committees and organizations subordinate to it.

that they are facing an insufficient number of upperclassmen of experience and ability to bear a burden of responsibility and work out of all proportion in the various Hill organizations. An excellent example of this, gentlemen is, this newspaper, where with the exception of the editor and one columnist, who are both seniors, there is no other member of the Senior or Junior Classes on the editorial staff. The three junior editors are sophomores and the other staff members are all lowerclassmen, there being at least a dozen "frosh" out for the staff—and doing a darn good job, might I add. Are the upperclassmen going to continue to shirk their responsibilities as leaders and take a back seat to the sophomores and freshmen on the Colleges and in every activity, which they will not do. There is no excuse, whatever, for every Kenyon man not being an active contributor to one organization. Many are active in more than one, and many could be active in more than one.
Shibley's Frosh To Tackle Case
