Keep Head During Fire Warns Chief
As part of the extensive fire prevention campaign, Chief White of the Mount Vernon fire department spoke at the school during the week of March 7. The Chief was so anxious that every student should understand the importance of fire protection that he refused to allow any tardiness on the part of any student. Chief White discussed not only the danger of fire, but rules of precautions for any fire, anywhere. Allowing this idea to be first mentioned in the article, he described the building in which the fire occurred. This building is made of brick and has four stories. The students were not allowed to go into the building for ten minutes and then commonly outside. These "false fires" rushed from the burning of fur- nace, wood molting and even matches.

As afternoon in the suggetion the only as a final al- ternative, White discussed the general rules of procedure in fire fighting. There are a few lessons of fire fighting, and the room is full of water. Fire fighting is not so much as a means of getting the fire stopped, but to be able to get the water to the floor where the fire would be less dense, and then get to a window, open one on the ground floor, then close it and open the other available.
The next step would be to attempt to extinguish the fire. If the means of exit is blocked, the students must try to cover the mattress, because as long a door hole, the fire will not enter.

As rooms have been installed in this hall, White advised that the best method for getting down the fire would be to wrap one around the rope and descend the short drop. "This here you got," was his advice.

Prof. Harvey Publishes New Critique On Bernard, Schow
Professor Edward Harvey of the Mount Vernon language department recently published a short book titled Modern Language Quarterly. March issue, entitled "A Study in Bernard and Mar- schow." Mr. Harvey's article deals gen- erally with the idea of translation in the modern language community. He points out that certain ideas which have previously been translated to English can actually be translated to Schow's.
Premiere Of New Michael Comedy Set For April 7

Bebulousa began on the after-noon of March 30th, in Jack Minn-uh's play, Rude Awakening. A Kysen audience will see the premiere production of this new New York comedy Thursday, April 7. There will also be per- formances on the following two evenings, April 8th and 9th. For the play, "We hope it is a bright comedy. It involves three people, two women, and a man," said Mrs. Minn, who is starting discoveries about each other and about themselves. My chief feelings about Rude Awk- ening is that I am so glad to have the pleasure at doing this play for the Kysen audience, on this stage, and with these particular actors. I am sure all but one of whom are veterans of the Kysen stage. We find out many things—both good and bad about us in the play during its production."

The rehearsal time for Rude Awakening has been two years and six months. Some of the cast are going to remain in Gamblers during part of the vacation for extra rehearsal. The three lead- ing characters are played by Paul, Bob, Dave, and Dave. They are the only two sets of sisters in my family."

Bebeusla will be the Dram- a Club's last production for this year. Speech 84 will produce the next play, one of Hendricks, Brown's, as yet undetermined.

Dear Mother,

Having just got through my recitation in Geography I thought I could not better improve my time better today then by giving you an account of my doings for the last week... Last Monday was the anniversary of the birth of Washington we had no school. The students formed a procession; each one of us had a broom in front of a gun in our hands. With the order of given to shoulder the guns.

Perhaps two of the most interesting pastimes that gave it a little go last Saturday night at the Sunset Club were: Don Dunlop and John Wrath, John, who has at last a speaking acquaintance with every party girl in Mt. I guess, that you just don't have the technique of Dave Beagle. Of course no one knows what happened after two am.
