DEAN CRACKS DOWN ON DANCE WEEKEND EVERYTHING BANNED THOUSANDS WEEP

69 Are Under 'Ex Post Facto' Arrest

By Steve Wilson

A glowing cloud of Calvinism descended on the campus last night when, leaving a midnight meeting, the DEAN proclaimed "there will be no dancing this dance season." Following DEAN's exit, Carmen Arigo, David Arigo and Larry Vicipiano issued jointly a joint "evening announcement ab DRANO." The decree stated that there would be no after-dance parties, and no drinking. Wise for holy communion this Sunday is definitely out. All campus members found out of their dorm after ten will be put on social probation. Included in this order was a paragraph giving the DEAN the right to set up the Operating Committee. Arigo explained that the DEAN had threatened to retire to a monastery unless this provision was given to him. He promised, Arigo added, tooley incorporate almoners.

Students Arrested

Arigo reported to the group uncorrected outside the room that the DEAN, that very afternoon, before the new laws were made into a law, had arrested sixty-five students under "six post facto." Arigo explained that was sure that the DEAN would be late and just this afternoon he also stated that he, Arigo, was at the DEAN the whole-hearted support of the student body. Arigo said, "the one was all in favor of a fair, square, strict, dry and unbroken border between the real and the imaginary. He never said any comment about the political atmosphere which has recently invaded this community."

Schneider quoted the DEAN as saying in his decree, which none of the three have seen yet, that all rooms, close-in, dressers, corners, drawers, bookcases, wardrobes, coat and pants pockets will be searched. The DEAN personally will take charge of the latter.

Although the three representatives were not sure, they thought that the DEAN said something about a campus-wide campaign. Anyway, they ended up at the meeting discussing the members of the press to see their group. The DEAN was to be there, one of them promised shyly...

Great Southern Statesman Named Kenyon's 17th Pres.

A nationally famous southern statesman has been named as Kenyon's 17th president and will take office immediately. He was announced yesterday.

The new president, the annual inductee to the state's capitol, has taken up residence in Gambler House and will announce his official duties this Monday.

At what seemed to be a routine meeting, the Gambler Board of Trustees, unanimously named Talma as the next president to build the expectations of the 6th- odd faculty members and students of this little Ohio school. Fortunately, the well-known southern leader and campaigner, a veteran of many civil rights wars, was in attendance at the meeting and was able to proceed to Gambler immediately.

Large Group of Well-Wishers

The new chief executive arrived in Gambler yesterday at the head of a large group of well-wishers, including 9,000 share croppers, a large delegation from the NAACP, and the entire population of Mt. Gabel, Ga., his home town.

As the large crowd spread red and grey segregation leaders about the campus, they had an audience with the new president. The new president stopped on the steps of the house and said, "Don't go any further. If you keep on going you won't be able to see the best state for the masses."

None of you will ever have to fear again, that you will have to go to school in integrated classrooms. We get to preserve the good American way of life here at Kenyon.

Numerous Changes in Administration

Many changes were forecast for the college's future. The famous social philosopher and...

New President Greets Crowds

Kenyon's 17th president was introduced to the assembled crowd yesterday. It was apparent that Kenyon is the sort of private school that I have found so useful in my dealings in my native state.

‘Yankees have no place in the proper type of education,' he said. ‘We want to pursue a more successful co-educational course here in Gambler. Remember, we are building the future leaders of tomorrow and we don't want to go putting any dangerous ideas in their heads."

We always found that ignorance was the best state for the masses. It's worked in Georgia, and I don't see why it can't work here."

"First thing we are going to do is," he continued, "to that we are going to stop this epicural and tagmatist Stu'pulor in the only religion that brings Jesus down to Man's level."

"None of you will ever have to fear again, that you will have to go to school in integrated classrooms. We get to preserve the good American way of life here at Kenyon.

The more noteworthy volumes recently acquired are as follows: "Collective Poems of Robert Frost," "The Finkbeiner Guide to Children's Parties: Tom Sitten and the Electric Dean," "The Ray Robinson Inquiry into Caledonoth, Florida Thought," and "V. The Public Speaks
To the College
There's something rotten at the core of Kenya and it's high time somebody brought this problem to the whole of the student body.

My friends and I went to the evening after our Circle L meeting and were in agreement That problem is the fraction-ness. These social clubs have had their biggest collection of blacks ever seen, and are doing more than just talk in their clubs.
There are certain groups here that are really trying to

The really big problem as far I go is in my eyes is with those guys over in North Leu-
- they just think they're better than the Kenyan man should think.

We're taking them right now and listening to a back rock, or something like that, as there were some takers at

A focus on the Dead:

Yesterday, May 9, 1997 will be remembered by all readers of this column as the day that Isaac Leichtschat — our contribution to the world of industrial softball, stood on the mound of our bat park and presided over a championship victory over the Fredericktown Flexibles. The memory of this great game and the championship sequence is still vivid in my mind. Isaac, a legend in the English department. All courses in political science, psychology, and other non-practical fields of learning, long devoted to the KENYON Collegian, will be discontinued.

In addition, according to the custom of many old and famous institutions of higher learning, Kenyon students will be required to wear white shirts at classes. Vespers services tonight will feature cross and office music from the choir.
