Kenyon Dramatic Club Opens
With "Juno and the Paycock"

The Kenyon Dramatic Club will open its 1957-58 season with "Juno and the Paycock" on Nov. 7 and 8. This play is one of the plays that are currently reliving among Irish playwrights.

Director James McKee has been working earnestly for the production, with Leif G. "Captain" Jack Boyle, Mary McGowan as his wife Jono Boyle, Van Shaw as their daughter, Mary, and Dave Johnson as her brother, Johnny. Others included in the cast are Jerry Devlin, and John Stanley as Juno.

"Juno" and "Paycock" are ambitious works, and an audience of the "modern" including the thesaurus will find some interest in the production.

On Oct. 14, the public will be invited to Dr. A. Mark Baly's latest book, Multitudes in the Valley.

In this analysis, Dr. Baly says that the Middle Ages, looking for a new way to solve the problems of the church and society, turned to the theatre as a means to communicate the message of Jesus Christ.

THE SPOKESMAN

A Violation of Trust

As far as Kenyon students are concerned, two of the most mystifying and perplexing things in the College are the new student body and the non-student body. Both have been around for several years and not too many of us have discovered what their real purpose is. The last act is evidently a sacred cow. But the student council, by a series of brilliant maneuverings, has finally prevailed upon us to destroy most of the student. The student body does have it, and a great part of the justification for its existence.

The non-student body is concerned, the Council is primarily a legislative and judicial body representing the students. It is known that the Council having quorum present met on a few occasions, but not one of them. In the past, the group has admirably succeeded in reducing the destruction of College property and creating some measure of trust in the students it supposedly represents.

At present, however, the Council has found a means of self-justification in a case involving a violation of the directed rules. The case, involving a charge, correction, and sentencing for inappropriately conduct, revealed several discrepancies in the Council's procedure. These irregularities are perhaps best summarized by the Appeals Board which considered the case. The Board's recommendations were as follows: 1) that a student charged with breaking a rule shall be notified of the charge against him before a final vote is taken in Council on conviction and sentencing. 2) That the accused be presented with a specific charge as to detail that he might have every opportunity to defend himself. 3) That the accused be given a hearing by a body having authority to defend himself. 4) That the minutes of the Council's meetings more accurately reflect the nature of the Council's deliberations and decisions.

The fact of the case, involving a clear violation of a definitely infractions of the directed rules was evident. Evidently, the Council is not concerned with the enforcement of the rules, the Council convicted and sentenced 15 students for impudence, grant or small, in this infraction. The penalty was the same in all cases. It would seem that no weight was given by the Council to the intent, degree of implication, or circumstances of the various persons accused.

To the observer, who much observation is possible and debatable, since the Council seems to be composed of only two or three members, for the purpose of an infringed upon the the body. By its action, the Council has reached both the integrity and equity of its part in the application of student regulations.

What remains after all this is a violation of the student body that the Council is not in a position to correct. The Council's decision was made in haste and without any show of fairness to those involved. By its action, the Council has violated both the integrity and equity of its part in the application of student regulations.

To the observer, who much observation is possible and debatable, the decision has been given under the students in the Constitution. It is and by a reason a question of the maximization-like qualities of the Council. The point is that the Council has failed in its obligation to these students. It is true, that it has not evidenced in its sheriff procedure, the "sense of rational responsibility" sought after in the preamble to the Constitution. In violation of the preceding, the Council's decision that respect the student body has for it. It has betrayed the democracy of Kenyon College.
LORDS TACTLE NEMESIS OBY

By Chuck Horstman

So far this year, Kenyon's boosters have shown a rather disheartening ability to score. The blame for this must fall, at least partially, on the front line which, because of the inexperience, lacks teamwork. Although losing to Dayton last Saturday, the squad improved enough to put two goals into the net against five for the opposition. On the brighter side, freshman Peter Travis appears to be an able replacement at goalie for the graduated Bill Welles, several veterans Don Peppers, Kemp Fuller, Reg Doherty and Dave Adams are playing exceptionally well. From the sidelines, at least, I would suppose that this year's team, in its years past, has had the potential to record a good season. The fact that this potential has not been realized can be attributed either to poor team spirit and caring, and perhaps both, Kenyon's soccer teams have always been the bright spot in the otherwise dull fall and will it be so, one hopes, on a Kenyon team going through the season without a win.

One Better Than A Fare

For more than five years, football at Kenyon has been degenerating until now it is working overtime to be one better than a fence. Decision and poor spirit on the team and a general lack of interest among the members of the student body seem to be the greatest contributions of the team. There seems to be an understrength of personnel in regard to the larger disparity between Kenyon's weekly record in football. For those who consider a school's academic achievement to be the measure of its football fortunes, we might add that good student material and school pride is just as much a part of college life as a man's point average. It is also probably becoming somewhat of a task for a team to travel to Kenyon with little chance of winning by less than 20 points, let alone losing. This year's team has a potential greater than its Saturday afternoon performances, especially in the freshman class, and deserves a little more support than it presently receives. It is Bob Brownfield in the Homing game. It would be interesting to see the student body come out on its own for a change.

Statistics Notes

Statistics so far in football are far from encouraging, but they do show a few interesting points. Team-wise, Kenyon has gained only 214 yards in four games to its opponents' 772. In passing, however, the Lords have an edge of 482 to 416. Pass defense will be a big factor in tomorrow's game. In total offense, Kenyon opponents have rolled up 1,131 yards and 75 points to the Lords 876 yards and 13 points. On the bright side, Rob Weidenkopf's 13 rushing yards per point average before the Wilmington game was tops in the Ohio Conference. The freshman quarterback's 341 yards is a record for his age. Mark Brown is a contender for first team honors with a total of 106 yards for so far this season. The quarterback's final attempt against Dick Fischer at week and the sophomore had landed in four passes for 47 yards to give him a total of six catches for 85 yards this season... Brant Johnson still remains Kenyon's top runner with 76 yards gained in 18 carries, but Murry Berg, Bill Whinner and Bruce Carter have begun to find a few holes and have given Kenyon's ground attack buoyant spirit.

Passing Duel Is Forcast

In Gridder's Home Debut

Kenyon's problem-child football team will be shooting for its first win of the season tomorrow night against Oberlin in the annual Homingcoming game. The game will be the Lord's fourth of the year while it will be Oberlin's fifth time on the field.

Starting at quarterback for Kenyon's will be sophomore Bob Weidenkopf and junior Joel Holmes. Weidenkopf started for the first time last Saturday against Wilmington and made a very good appearance, winning 4 out of 5 passes for a total of 31 yards. Joel Holmes, on the other hand, is in some indication that will take the ball down and run to score. Weidenkopf has thrown averaged over 4 yards per carry during the last two weeks. The backfield will be in question with Brian Donohoe, Bruce Carter, Bob Johnson and Carl Zellner competing for the positions.

Senior members of the Kenyon line will round out their award defense. If at halftime, the game will be won by Kenyon. At tackle will be Hugh Hodgson (185 pounds) and Howard Maust (250 pounds). The guard positions will be held by Joe Beere and Carl Zellner, while Fred Echelbar and Carl Zellner will start at the center.

Oberlin Passing Potential

Leading the team for Oberlin at quarterback will be either Bill Connera or Jack Conisman. Conisman will be the choice if the last two meetings but is surpassed by Connera in both yardage and completion percentage, however, since the Yeomen's main attack against Oberlin may be led by Conisman. At fullback will be Tom Kammmer who has been named All-American inwards running halfbacks. Conisman, Dick Havens and Bob Connera have made some pass completion in 76 attempts for 325 yards and two touchdowns so far this season. The Yeomen rolled 280 yards through the air last Saturday against Ohio Wesleyan.

Oberlin, too, has yet to win a game this season, having a record of 0-4-1, losing to Ohio Wesleyan, Miami, and, of course, at Oberlin. They have, in four games, amassed 48 points to their opponents 87. Kenyon's showing last Saturday at Wilmington was a sign of a team short of poor. The Lords were out-played in all this particular game, whom they were favored to defeat by a score of 20-7. The Yeomen team did manage to take the offensive they just lost the ball almost immediately making only one first down to Wimington's 16. Against Capital, the Lords' pass defense fell prey to Chuck Kessler's aerial and ground attack. The Yeomen with several bad Kenyon breaks, are a small college families, fared the Lutherans to 20-6 easy 410 win. The Purple Knights out-pointed Lords 280 yards on the ground and 280 to 213 in the air. The Yeomen's passing high spot of the contest was Keith Stuhm, who pasted over for a total of 119 yards. A last-second opportunity for a score was batted away when the Yeomen ran at the Capital two-yard line after intercepting a Billy Helgoe pass. The Yeomen won 20-6.

Tomorrows game can spell victory for an alert Kenyon squad or disaster for the team which played last Saturday. Both Bill Stuhm reports last week's performance of running back and string team during a goal-line stand are looking to play by be so patient and switch sides.
