F. Edward Lund

Audit new aids for an aid-to-education bill was announced by President Edward Lund in the recent Faculty meeting.

The bill will "ensure resident students of the freedom to learn" and "guarantee that all faculty members who meet the necessary qualifications for admission to the faculty will be able to instruct in the courses of study at the university." The bill will also allow for the establishment of a "congressional" system of education.

The bill was introduced by Representative Citizens for Education Freedom, Ohio, now pays $50 per year to under-graduate students in state universities and $125 to graduate students.

The proposal would make equal funds available to students attending private as well as state institutions.

Such a bill would benefit about 25 percent of the students at Kenyon. President Lund stated he has been in favor of this action for a long time, not because it would help Kenyon, but because it appears to be a more equitable way of handling the costs of higher education.

James C. Cooper, president of the student council, has written off President George Wadsworth offering support from Kenyon undergraduates. In an open letter to college students, Wadsworth did not ask for support for the bill. He urged contacting student government or CEFR directly, if you are interested in obtaining over $50 toward the cost of your tuition come next September.

The Student Council expressed disapproval of the spirit and letter of a judiciary measure proposed by IFC in a report delivered Monday night.

Discussion on the rather lengthy IFC report centered on the controversial interfraternity judiciary clause, which would establish a committee to enforce the rules IFC considers fundamental. Three rules were listed: illegal use of alcoholic beverages, party activities in the evening and the silent period on Sunday. Although the IFC expressed disapproval of the latter rule, it stated it would enforce it.

According to a reliable source, the IFC was presented with a pair of alternatives by Dean Thomas E. Griffith, which included either enforcing such rules themselves or having the dean office do it. The judiciary proposal grew out of this ultimatum.

The judiciary would consist of members of the IFC. Any member of the college could report a complaint (only freshmen and presidents can do so now) against a member, and a board of three judges and an investigator would be appointed to investigate the situation. After completion of investigation, a ruling would be made, and if... Continued on page 2

Water Works Bugged By Little Squirts

by Jim Fink

Sinks that spout in every direction and showers that hardly squat at all are quite the vogue at Kenyon now. These difficulties have arisen as the result of a change in the chemical filtration system introduced as part of the college’s new water filtration plant. Director of Plant and Operations Harry Robertson explained that the change...

ged shower heads and sink faucets are becoming blocked by particles of calcium and sediments from mineral deposits which have been forming, over the years, in the piping of the community's water system. The new chemicals introduced to treat these in an effort to lessen the problem have been so aggressive as to damage this accumulation, and it is now necessary to clean the pipes in the water system so often that every household is made to pay for some of the damage. The city's water supply is too low when peak demands and during the summer months. The city is now taking steps to increase the water supply in order to meet the demands of the community. The city is also working on a new water system that will be built in the near future. It is hoped that this new system will be able to meet the demands of the city and to provide a better water supply for the residents.

The recent Collegian article on the rerouting of the student newspaper, The Colleger, is an unfortunate event in the history of the college. The administration's decision to reroute the newspaper was made without adequate consultation with the staff and the students. This action has caused a great deal of disruption and has led to a loss of confidence in the administration.

Bob Chase, the editor of The Colleger, has been removed from his position as editor. The decision to remove him was made by the administration without any input from the staff or the students. To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to express my disgust at the manner of the college administration in taking this recent action. This list, published weekly following the closing of the book for the current semester and posted on the bulletin boards around campus, is an attempt to be fair to all the students on campus. It is used by the administration to keep track of the number of students who have been held in jail, and it is a useful tool for the students on campus. I must say that, while it is intended to be fair, I am not sure that it is. I am not sure that it is a good thing for the students on campus. Better Service Promised by Mt. Vernon Phone Co.

Plans to increase by six the number of telephones in Gambier (there are now 20) and double the number of lines to be served in Gambier, were revealed recently by Mr. C. J. Aron, manager of the Mount Vernon Telephone Corp.

Although the plans for adding more Gambrinian-Mt. Vernon lines this year are indefinite, the equipment for the pay stations already installed last month, only a day after an open house was held in Gambier's new telephone exchange.

Thoughsparsely attended (only 30 villagers showed up), the open house revealed some progress in getting the installation started. The telephone company has now completed the installation, and the telephone corporation has made plans to add at least 3 new lines, 2 being supplied in the next month. The new equipment is capable of handling up to 60 subscribers, though now only 20 lines serve 1000 telephones. Mr. Aron also mentioned the new format of the telephone books, and the fact that the new equipment is designed to be more easily maintained.

Pistol Packers Pop Off Weekly

Each Wednesday night, the Kenyonian go down to the old pistol packers' den, open the window, fire a shot off the week's tensions in a sport that requires a rare blend of creativity and courage. The targets are the members of the newly reorganized Pistol Club, who can now fire at targets from several feet away.

The new club is part of the Ohio Central Corporation, which offers a wide range of activities to students. The club has recently acquired a pistol range and is planning to expand its facilities.

THE POST-DENISON ERA

LODRS OUT-FOX TERRIERS, 68-66

by Floyd S. Linton

Kenyon's 77-71 victory over Denison two weeks ago came at a high price. Denison's extraordinary brutal man-handling of the Lords, in particular John Dunlop and Terry Parmelee, served to significantly retard the Lords' momentum during their rough 3-game weekend last week. Dunlop's severely bruised shoulder kept him out of Thursday night's clash with OWU, and obviously slowed him up considerably against Marietta and Hiram, while Parmelee's bruised rib muscles kept his scoring average for the three games to half his normal output.

The Lords' three-game weekend then might have resulted in a laud weekend if it weren't for some outstanding individual performances and some fine clutch teamwork. And as much as they could play, the bruised and battered stars Dunlop and Parmelee, gave the Lords some important moments. Perhaps the most significant game was Monday night's 68-66 hair-raiser over Hiram.

Gain Crucial Victory

Kenyon arrived at Hiram Monday night physically and psychologically worn down from the Marietta game. Hiram was certainly no slouch team either, having lost to the same three teams Kenyon had lost to: Marietta, Baldwin-Wal- lace, and Wittenburg. Led by flashy All-Conference guard Jim Ward, the Terriers were an experienced, well-knit team. Add to this the fact that it was an away game for the Lords, and you have Kenyon playing at a seemingly formidable disadvantage.

In the first half, everything seemed to go wrong for the Lords. Rinka went cold, hitting only one out of ten from the field for a measly two points. Harrison had his men play a 2-3 zone defense and led to 15 backboards and two bring-ons in the basket, making the Lords' big men underneath. As a result, the Lords left the court trailing 37-26 at the half.

Following the game, Harrison had high praise for his team's defensive performance, giving Dick Fox in particular, the play of a great game. "He has led us tremendously in the last few games," Fox said. This performance resulted in 16 points and nailed 15 rebounds. But perhaps Harrison's most telling remark was: "This is a game we had to win, we just had to. For Kenyon's basketball fans and players alike, this was a game that must have been won, but we lost it."

In the second half, the Lords hit on 13 of 34 shots from the field, coming back from behind to 57-54 after playing a great game. "This is a game we have to win," Harrison said. "We lost it by having to play a great game." Fox was named all conference this week for his defensive performance, hitting 16 points and leading the team in rebounding.

With typical Finstromesse, Kenyon's 245 executes his cross-court play and successfully ties up Denison's bewildered center. Recovered with 10 of 34 for the first half.

Early in the second half, the Lords fell down by 52-46 before lighting their way back to go ahead 57-54 on Larry Finstrom's tap-in with 11:00 to go. The basis of the Lords' overpowering comeback was their domination of the backboards. Fox, Parmelee, and Finstrom kept the Terriers from getting inside and exploited Hira-

The Lords resolutely refused to accept defeat, coming back from behind to 57-54 after playing a great game. "This is a game we have to win," Harrison said. "We lost it by playing a great game." Fox was named all conference this week for his defensive performance, hitting 16 points and leading the team in rebounding.

The Kenyon swimming team suffered its first conference defeat of the season Thursday at Wittenberg University. Hopeful of a temporary set-back will serve to put the team on its toes for the tough conference schedule that lies just ahead of them, culminating in the OAC championships on March 3rd and 4th. February 15, little more than two weeks away, a success of crucial importance holds the fate of the team in its own hands. Feb. 18, Oberlin, Feb. 22, at Maumee, Feb. 25, Ohio Wesleyan.

It is difficult to pin-point the cause for Kenyon's loss to Wittenberg. In general, the Wittenberg team was a better team, and last year's win last winter against Wittenberg in particular was the most significant meet of the year. Red-hot after a victory over the powerful Dennison, Wittenberg came to Shieffelin with hopes for further conquests. On that day they were beaten by the Lords, who last winter Kenyon ran away everyone at the conference and co-university. Undoubtedly Wittenberg's loss for this year's dual against Kenyon, to cut out a ratio for last year's defeat. Although certain times were not going the way, the overall Kenyon victory was certain. Few officials posted their best performances of the season. Sickness also took its toll, as arrivals at the opening essay, the meet, Kenyon and Wittenberg officials made it clear they had a strong favorite for Wittenberg in Busch its交换 an excellent 15th, with Butcher and Heid the taking second and third. Later won the 200 breaststroke in 2:24.5, one of his best marks this year. Bill Howard's

OwU, Dayton Slap Hockey Team

After a successful scramble for funds and an unsuccessful scramble for manpower to practice on, the Kenyon hockey team dropped its opening game to Ohio Wesleyan, 5 to 3, and was overwhelmed by powerful Dayton University on Sunday, by a score of 11 to 2.

2 of their scheduled games because the O.U. rink is not available at reasonable hours. Kenyon's lack of practice time resulted in a serious disadvantage despite the fact that the amount of raw talent on the team is almost equal to the talent of the best team that will face Faber. High-scoring Watson-Lowe center on the first line, and he is flanked by the agile Bob Poole and tough Paul Skinner. The class of '70 has supplied the team with its two first-string defensemen, Park and Bradford. The two second line is carried by Jerry Miller, with Jim Jeigh at right wing and freshman Sam Dorsch at left wing. Obviously, much of the strength of this year's team is a result of the unusual number of highly skilled forwards who have joined the team. Despite the fact that most of the teams the Lords face have their material to spare, and that is available in Ohio State between 15 and 13 p.m., this team was to be expected. The whole team was built on the belief that a team can win with a defense. In addition, each member of the team must provide a stable defense in the present time. Kenyon's main problem is finding a way to score. The only way to overcome this is by having each member of the team improve and "hit the front." The Kenyon Tradition Since 1947

Kenyon Men Show Well in Wilsons

Five Kenyon men have been named first-round Woodrow Wilson scholarship winners, and two more are still in the running, according to Dean Bruce Haywood. No names were announced.

"I'm delighted at this fine showing," Dean Haywood stated when he announced the results. Kenyon was fourth in total scholarship winnings in the Michigan-Chicago area, which is allied to Wilsons.

Brown Gallery Slates Student Art Exhibit

The Robert Bowen Brown Gallery of Chalmers Library will have an exhibit of student works from now until Feb. 8. The work will be from students in color and first-year sculpture classes. The addition of sculpture is a first for this exhibit, which, according to the Publicity Office, is popular among residents of the Knox County vicinity.

mittee planning the event stated that they intend the conference to develop an understanding of the meaning and application of black power. The possible role of the white sympathizer within the movement will also be scrutinized.

The sessions will begin in Room Hall at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 24th. Two of the speakers will be heard then, and the other two will speak at Roos at 7:30 that evening. Students will have opportunity to question speakers at the end of each session and at a reception in the Alpha Delta Phi lounge following the evening meeting. A two hour panel discussion featuring the four guests and beginning at 10:00 Saturday morning will conclude the event.

Local planners anticipate attendance by students from other area schools, and hope for substantial publicity to accompany the conference.

Can you make it as a modern banker?

A banker today is a lot more than a money specialist who waits for the community to come to him. He's a well-rounded, imaginative individual who knows how to present a package of financial services to fill his client's needs. He's professionally involved with every kind of business, from government to space exploration to problems of emerging nations. And he can't be pigeonholed because versatility is one of the keys to his success.

He has job status and pride of profession. And his compensation and employee benefits are the envy of many.

His training is thorough and guided by experienced seniors who cushion the rough spots and put him on the high road when he's ready in his own mind and deed.

Before you make your big career decision, take a long look at banking. Ambition is the key, and the best way to check yourself out is to set up a give-and-take session with a Chase Manhattan Banker.

One more thing.

Modern banking is in. It asks for versatile, creative, imaginative men who want to range the community, the nation and the whole wide world.

Discuss the possibilities of a career in modern banking. A Chase Manhattan banker will be on campus soon. Your Placement Office will tell you when and where.
